UNION GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE

The East Jordan Ministerial Association announces that the usual Union Good Friday Service will be held this year in the Presbyterian Church on the afternoon of Good Friday, April 19, from 2 to 3:30 p. m.

For many years these services have been well attended and have been of deep interest. This year, when the world is conscious of the ravages of sin, there is a stronger incentive than ever before to worship unitedly in this service.

Six churches will be represented in this union service.

Blessing of Palms to Open Holy Week Services In St. Joseph Church

The beautfully symbolic ceremonies of Holy Week which very vividly portray the passion and death of the Divine Redeemer will begin with the blessing of palms before High Mass on Palm Sunday, April 14th, in St. Joseph Church. His institution of the Holy Eucharist is commemorated on Holy Thursday and His death on the cross is re-enacted in the ceremonies on Good Friday.

The first Mass on Palm Sunday will be celebrated at 7:30 and the second Mass at 9:30. The blessing of palms will take place before the second Mass.

Holy Thursday — High Mass with procession at 7:30 a. m. Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament all day. Holy Hour at 7:30 in the evening.

Good Friday — Adoration of the Cross will begin at 7:30, followed by the Mass of the Presanctified. Stations of the Cross, sermon and prayers at 2:30 p. m.

PLANTING RYE AFTER POTATO HARVEST

Rye planted after potatoes were harvested last fall on th,e Darius Buell farm near Elmira, is showing promise this spring of being a good wind erosion control practice.

Mr. Buell had about one bushel of rye planted per acre in strips about four drill widths to see if they could get any control of early spring wind erosion. Although the rye did not make too much growth last fall, approximately one-half inch above the ground, also developed a fairly good root growth. Rye is a crop that grows to some extent through the winter if well covered and gets an early start in the spring.

Mr. Prebble, Buell's farm manager, feels it is not the complete answer of controlling erosion, but it is a better practice that what they have followed before, providing it will give the same results over a period of years.

Farmers in that area should look this over and decide if it is a worthwhile practice.

Blue Star Mothers To Hold Food and Baked Goods Sale

The Blue Star Mothers will hold a food and baked goods sale, Saturday, April 13, starting at 2 p. m. in the Benson display room, formerly occupied by Louise's Beauty Shop.

The proceeds are to be used in rehabilitation, a new project, at Lake Orion, for convalescing servicemen. The Blue Star Mothers are the sole sponsors of this project.

All mother interested, whether members of the Blue Star Mothers or not, are invited to help in this project by donating for this sale.

LIBRARY HOURS

Evenings — 7 to 8:30 p. m.

Except Tuesdays and Friday, on which days open 12:30 to 5:00 p. m. and closed in the evening.

Afternoons — 2 to 5 p. m.

Since our last notes were printed we have received from the State Board for Libraries, a check for $638.48. This is our share of the Equalization Fund for the fiscal year 1945-46, whch ends June 30th, and is the largest check we have received from this Fund.

Our Library receives this grant because the per-capita assessed valuation of the area which supports our library is less than two-thirds of the average per-capita assessed valuation of the State.

State Aid had made it possible to extend our area of service and to improve the standard of service. Because of the increased prices it has been difficult to accomplish this, even with State Aid, and without State Aid it would be impossible.

Books Added to Our List

For the younger children we have the story of Augustus, a calf, by Claire Bishop.

The Nurse Story fans have two new books, one of which was a gift:

Cherry Ames, a student nurse — Wells.

Nancy Taylor, captain of Flight Nurses — E. Lansing.

Rouge Male — G. Household: an adventure story.

The Peoples of the Soviet Union — Lamont.

Native Peoples of the Pacific World — Keesing.

The last three books listed are gifts from the Carnegie Endowment Fund.

Other gifts included eleven Pocket Books, seven from Mr. Buchman and four from Mrs. Rose Cihak.

GOOD FRIDAY

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR

The City of East Jordan is participating in the observance of Good Friday, along with the other cities of the State and Nation. The past few years the business places of East Jordan have closed during the time of the Union Services. This year I am requesting that, except in cases of emergency, all business places be closed, and that all activity under the direction of the City be suspended from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m., so that all may attend the Union Good Friday Service, Friday, April 19, 1946.

VERN J. WHITEFORD,
Mayor of the City of East Jordan.

A Lenten Message

Jesus answered, "My kingdom is not of this world". John 18, 36.

We have in John 6, 15, a record of how men would make Jesus an earthly king. However when faced with the truth of His kingdom being spiritual, even his disciples forsook Him. Luke 26, 56.

Many willing to accept Christ as teacher, as good example or for good rendered society. However there is the blood that was shed on the cross without which there is no remission of sin.

In John 3 verses 1 to 16 Jesus explained the entering of that spiritual kingdom as He was addressed, Teacher sent from God. He answers, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee. Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God". Then adds in verse 7, "Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye (MUST) be born again".

In verse 9 this learned man cried out, "How can these things be"?

In Luke 13-13 One said, "God be merciful to me a sinner". We read in next verse, He went forth justified.

Looking Backward

February 24, 1906

The leading article in this issue is a description of one of the most ambitious musical entertainments ever staged by East Jordan talent, Bradbury's cantata, "Queen Esther." The Detroit & Charlevoix R. R. ran a special excursion that evening to bring in people along their line. A number of us came over from Deward for it. Blanche Robertson directed the cast of more than 50 people. The four leads were sang by Bert Dole as the king; Mrs. Stanley Bush as the queen; Dr. Dicken as Haman; and Mrs. Clark Haire as his wife, Zeresh. Others singing principal parts were J. A. McKee, Harriet Hoyt, Mina Hite, Mrs. H. H. Fuller, Flora Haire, Chester Thompson, J. H. Milford, Bert Sheldon, Harry McHale, Tom LaLonde, and Robert Sheldon.

Dick Dicken took the part of Haman's small son and in the farewell scene between Haman and his wife before his execution the acting became so realistic that Dick burst into tears, bordering on hysteria, as he thought his father was really going to be hanged. The costumes, which had been brought from New York, were very beautiful and Mrs. Bush's magnificent hair which reached nearly to the floor added much to her appearance.

"Boyne City citizens are agitating the erection of a $10,000 club house." (Did they ever built it?)

The Weisman dry goods stock — in bankruptcy — was bid in Friday morning by Messrs. Burnham & Stoepel of Detroit for $4,440.

SOFT CORN

Michigan farmers may lose what soft corn they have left in the crib unless they take further precautions now. Alvin Johnson, specialist in farm crops at MSC, gives this warning in view of the unseasonally warm weather.

Of course, most farmers have probably already fed or sold much of their crop. But a few days of warm weather may start heating which will spoil any soft corn left. The best way to save it is to feed it. If you can't feed it all before warm weather, at least move it so that air can circulate through the corn better. As you move it, sort out the soft or moldy ears, loose husks and other trash that slow down the movement of air between the ears.

Sort shelled corn from chaff by scooping with a cob scoop rather than a grain scoop—and if you can, use an air blast to blow out husks and silk. After sorting put the good corn in a well-ventilated crib and use it for feeding as soon as possible.

LAWN SEED

What kind of seed should you use on your lawn? James Tyson, specialist in soil science at Michigan State college, says that the seed depends upon the kind of lawn and soil conditions. In general, though, use Kentucky blue grass for open, sunny lawn on good soil; use chewings fescue or creeping red fescue for shady or sunny lawns if the soil is sandy; and use chewing fescue and rough talked bluegrass for shady lawns with good fertile soils and good moisture.

ROLLED OATS MUFFINS

How about a different kind of muffin— one that doesn't use wheat? Mrs. Vivian P. MacFawn, specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State college, has this recipe for rolled oats muffins that will help take the edge off our wheat-saving menus.

The muffin ingredients include: one cup of cooked rolled oats, half a cup of water or milk, one beaten egg, two tablespoons of melted fat, one and a half cups of sifted flour, half a tablespoon of sugar and three cooked rolled oats with the water or teaspoons of baking powder.

Now to make the muffins, mix the milk—whichever you use—and the beaten egg and melted fat. Sift the dry ingredients together and add them to the wet mixture, stirring until just mixed. Fill the greased muffin pans about two-thirds full and bake in a moderately hot oven from 25 to 30 minutes.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

State Department Blueprints International Atom Control; House Probes Spy Intrigue

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Pictured (from bottom to top) during tense UNO talk on Iran are Andrei Gromyko, representing the soviet; Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain, and Edward Stettinius and James Byrnes of the U. S.

WORLD RELATIONS:
Atom—Russ

Even as the United Nations Organization's security council strove to compose differences with Russia over the Iranian question, the U. S. state department issued a special report calling for the creation of an international agency to control all phases of atomic energy and avert atomic rivalry among the major powers.

Written by a distinguished board of scientists and technicians the report recommended the establishment of an atomic development authority that would own and lease property and conduct mining, manufacturing, research, licensing, inspection or other operations. While the authority would possess absolute control over the production of atomic weapons, it would permit utilization of atomic energy in such civilian fields as medicine, biology, chemistry and physics.

The U. S.'s secret processes in development of atomic energy would be gradually unfolded to the United Nations authority as plans progressed for its development. Release of preliminary information necessary to discussion of setting up the agency would be followed by revelation of industrial know-how in manufacture and finally the method of constructing the A-bomb.

In releasing the report, Secretary of State Byrnes pointed out that the recommendations did not constitute official U. S. policy but could be considered as a basis for discussion of the creation of an international atomic authority.

Meanwhile, the security council worked on means to adjust the difficult situation posed by Russia's walkout in protest over UNO's consideration of Iran's complaint against the Soviets for failure to withdraw Red troops from the country. While Russia's withdrawal from the deliberations jolted UNO, the Soviets were quick to explain that their action did not mean they were withdrawing from the United Nations, but rather objecting to security council procedure.

SPY INTRIGUE:
House Acts

Hard upon the arrest of a 29-year-old Russian naval officer for espionage by the FBI in Portland, Ore., the house committee on un-American activities, headed by Representative Wood (Dem., Ga.) voted to send investigators up to Canada to probe possible connections between the Soviet spy ring uncovered in the dominion and agents in this country.

Revealing that the committee had been aware of the FBI's investigation of the Soviet naval officer, Lt. Nicolai Redin, the committee counsel said that the group soon would hold hearings on subversive activities and call on a number of witnesses, including atomic scientists and government employees.

Meanwhile, Redin, nabbed for obtaining information about the destroyer tender USS Yellowstone, charged "the whole thing is a build-up for political purposes." A member of the Soviet lend-lease purchasing staff in the U. S., Redin enjoys no diplomatic immunity and was held on $25,000 bond.

SCIENCE:
Use Germans

Some 160 German scientists are now in the United States working on military projects involving captured German equipment including rockets, buzz bombs, jet-propelled planes and aerodynamic research instruments, Secretary of War Patterson announced.

The orignal plan called for large scale utilization of German experts but was cut back radically following the Japanese surrender.

LABOR FRONT:
Farm Machinery Tie-Up

Government seizure of strike-bound farm machinery plants appeared as the remaining alternative as negotiations between companies and union bogged down and equipment was badly needed for the maintenance of high crop production to meet domestic and foreign demands.

As the government pondered taking over the plants, the International Harvester company continued to resist the CIO-Farm Equipment Workers' demands for union security, maintenance of membership, dues checkoff, arbitration and methods for settling grievances. Both company and union agreed to a government fact-finding recommendation for an 18-cent an hour wage increase.

In addition to 30,000 workers in 11 International Harvester plants, 12,500 employees in six plants of Allis-Chalmers and J. I. Case remained out over contract differences.

Coal Snag

While the government kept one eye on the farm machinery situation, it trained another on the coal industry, where parleys between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the operators sagged over the UMW chieftain's demands for the creation of a health and welfare fund.

Dropped last year during the bargaining over a new contract, the health and welfare fund issue was raised again this year by Lewis, who gave it No. 1 position on the negotiating agenda. Asserting that it would cost them $50,000,000 annually, the operators proposed the creation of a joint committee to study an accident compensation plan as an alternative.

As a walkout in the industry loomed, the government prepared to control the shipment of an estimated 29,000,000 tons of bituminous coal above ground. Steel spokesmen said a miners' walkout might result in the restriction of production within two weeks.

New UAW Chief

A concerted drive to organize the white collar workers in the automobile industry loomed with the election of fiery, red-haired Walter Reuther as the new CIO-United Automobile Workers president. Avowed foe of the communist faction within the UAW, Reuther thwarted the re-election hopes of R. J. Thomas, head of the union since 1938, who enjoyed leftist support.

In winning the presidency of the biggest union in the world, Reuther announced the organization of the white collar workers in the industry as one of his No. 1 goals. He also said an educational program would be undertaken to interest the membership in union activity and the UAW would strive for industry-wide instead of company-wide bargaining to correct wage and working inequalities between plants.

The stormy petrel of the UAW, and head of the union's General Motors division, Reuther is 39 and destined for major leadership in the American labor movement. Fired from the tool department of the Ford Motor company for union activity in 1933, he organized an AFL local in the plant in 1935 and then led his men into the CIO in 1938.

Children Handicapped

The American Society for the Hard of Hearing estimates that one million children, not including the totally deaf, are suffering from some form of auditory impairment.

Since a person may suffer almost a 40 per cent hearing loss before it is observable, a child may be seriously maladjusted before anything is done to help him, the authorities add.

GERMAN ASSETS:
Uncovered in Spain

Enjoying the co-operation of the Franco government, the U. S. and Britain, acting for the Allied control council, have uncovered more than 100 million dollars in German assets in Spain and taken possession as the ruling force of the vanquished reich.

Included in the assets are controlling shares in extensive holding companies; 30 ships and other facilities of three shipping companies; 100 buildings; gold worth $1,125,000; German paintings used for propaganda purposes, and a huge stock of champagne which was to be sold to obtain foreign exchange.

Discovery of stock of the Sociedad Financiero Industria in a vault under the German embassy in Madrid gave U. S. and British officials control over a far-flung holding company comprising 17 corporations. Organized at the beginning of the Spanish civil war to supply goods and munitions to Franco, the holding company was supported by the Nazis.

Among the German businesses taken over were makers of tires and rubber, medical and electrical equipment, electrical appliances, radio sets and telephones, and light bulbs. Krupp's extensive licensing of patents and processes at a 3 per cent royalty also were subject to Allied administration.

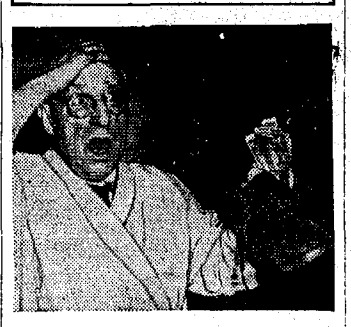

FARM EXPERIMENT:
Dropped by Ford

In line with its announced policy of abandoning activities not directly connected with the manufacture of automobiles, the Ford Motor company will dispose of 10,000 acres of farmland in Michigan originally acquired for experimenting in the adaptation of agricultural products to industrial use.

The company also decided to give up the model school project organized for the communities surrounding the huge land holdings. One-room schools were remodeled, kindergartens opened for three- and four-year-olds, and studies shaped to permit practical application of textbook teachings.

Under the new policy pushed by Henry Ford II, the company will not resume manufacture of some of its own tires and a tugboat used for Ford piers on the Detroit river has been sold. Operated by a foundation separate from the company, the Ford museum and Greenfield village will not be affected.

Found: An Honest Man!

Honesty still is the best policy to Frank Barone, 71, who has worked hard operating a shoe repair shop in Chicago, Ill., for 40 years and knows the value of money. While reheeling some footwear for an unknown customer, the cobbler discovered $1,100 in ten and twenty dollar bills stuffed deep inside the shoes. When the customer returned, Barone handed over $1,090, insisting on withholding $10 as a reward.

PEARL HARBOR:
Reopen Hearings

Pondering lengthy testimony on the Pearl Harbor disaster of December 7, 1941, the congressional committee named to investigate the catasrophe decided to reopen public hearings to obtain more detailed information from top military and naval officers as to their whereabouts on the evening preceding the attack.

Decision to call General Marshall, Admiral Stark and Rear Admiral Beardall back for questioning followed late testimony of Comdr. L. R. Schulz that President Roosevelt had sought to contact Stark on the night of December 6 after receipt of the first 13 parts of the Japanese message indicating a rupture in diplomatic relations.

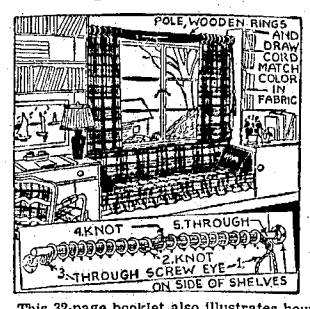

While Marshall and Stark had told the committee they could not recall their whereabouts on the night of December 6, Schulz said that Mr. Roosevelt was informed that Stark was attending a theater. Beardall was said to have been dining with the late Admiral Wilkinson, chief of naval intelligence. Schulz's testimony may serve to refresh their memories, Committee Chairman Barkley said.

OUTDOOR SPORTS:
Licenses Up

America's hunters and anglers spent more than 26 million dollars for licenses during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1945. Although 8,190,901 hunting licenses and 8,280,232 fishing licenses were purchased this does not mean that 16,471,133 different sportsmen bought licenses to hunt or fish, for many bought both. There may have been even more since land-owners do not have to buy a license in some states.

PICK a real tough job for yourself and you'll find you won't have too much competition.

Be like the crow, who never complains without caws.

A good way of keeping poor is pretending to be rich.

One sweet maid declares the best thing to keep her hair looking nice at all times is a bashful boy friend.

He that cannot understand at a glance, will not understand by much explaining.

Very often we think if we were in the other fellow's shoes, we would shine them.

Date-Bran Muffins, good as cake!

(Take no sugar, no shortening!)

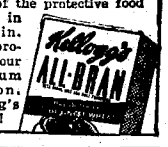

These delicious, new ALL-BRAN muffins made with chopped dates will have a big appeal for the "sweet toothers" in your family! They're so moist. And they're so tender—so good. That's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is milled extra-fine for golden softness.

2 cups Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
½ cup molasses
1½ cups milk
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped dates

Add KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Beat egg and add to first mixture. Add sifted dry ingredients and fruit. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 15 light, luscious muffins.

Good Nutrition, too!

ALL-BRAN is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat—contains a concentration of the protective food elements found in the whole grain. One-half cup provides over ½ your daily minimum need for iron. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily!

MURDER BY STARVATION

Reminiscent of the brooding horror of an Edgar Allan Poe shocker is the true story of a Viennese socialite who methodically beat, tortured and starved her 14-year-old housemaid. Read "Murder by Starvation", by Peter Levins, in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (April 14) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

WNU FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Spratt Herlong, motion picture producer, met and married Elizabeth, whose first husband, Arthur Kittredge, was reported killed in World War I, but who later appeared in Hollywood and secured a job from Spratt. Under the name of Kessler, and with his disfigurements, he was not recognized. He was a frequent visitor at the Herlong home and they all became good friends. One day while they were waiting for Spratt, Arthur told Elizabeth that he realized the fight she was going through, knowing that Dick would soon be going away to war. She said that so far she could only see the war in terms of her son, not as a noble struggle for a better world.

CHAPTER XVII

"I wish there were something I could say to you," he told her in a low voice.

Elizabeth had clasped her hands and was moving them against each other restlessly. "I don't know why I feel so much like talking to you. Maybe it's just that if I don't talk it out pretty soon I don't know what will become of me. Do you mind listening?"

"I want to," he answered, with such simple sincerity that she could have no doubt of his sympathy. He hesitated an instant, then asked, "Can we sit down, Mrs. Herlong?"

"How stupid of me!" she exclaimed. She hurried to lead the way to two deck chairs placed on the lawn, at the side of the house. Cherry had left a sweater on one of them, and Elizabeth put it on, for the evening chill was blowing in from the sea. "We aren't just courteous about not noticing your limitations, Mr. Kessler," she remarked as they sat down, "we're usually not even aware of them."

When he answered it was in a matter-of-fact voice. "This is one of the things I found hardest to get used to," he said. "I mean, asking for a chair. I had always been so healthy that I was the one who had to be reminded not to expect too much of other people. Please don't be embarrassed—I'm not."

"Are you cold?" asked Elizabeth.

"No. What was it you wanted to tell me?"

"Spratt is my second husband—you didn't know that, did you? It's not important in any personal sense between us, it never has been important and it wouldn't be now except that my first husband was killed in the last war. I loved him very much. Of course, now, looking back on it, it's easy to say it shouldn't have mattered so much, I was a young girl with all my life before me, and as it happened I met Spratt and everything turned out as you've seen it. But at the time there was no way for me to look forward. When I remember it—" She stopped.

After a moment Kessler asked, "Did you suffer so horribly?"

"I can't tell you what it was. It wasn't anything anybody could understand except somebody who had been through it. I had loved him so, and then all of a sudden he was dead. It was—anyway, I never went through anything like it before, and I never have again. Of course, it's all over—I don't even think of it very often, but now—" She stopped again.

There was a silence that seemed to last a long time. At last Kessler said, in a voice so low she barely heard him, "Yes? But now?"

"Don't you understand? I can't take it again. I can't. I thought there never would be anything else like that. It was over and done with. My world had been shot to pieces, and I picked up the pieces and made myself go on living, and I was rewarded more than I ever dreamed of expecting. But I can't do that another time. Even if I had the strength, it's too late. I was twenty when I lost Arthur. It wasn't easy to go on then. But now I'm forty-four. If my world is shot to pieces again, it stays that way. I can't go back and start over. And why should I be expected to? Life can't be all beginnings and no fulfillment!"

As she broke off Kessler asked, "What is that exquisite scent that's suddenly here all around us?"

"Night-blooming jasmine. Sometimes it blooms till late in the year. Are you listening to me?"

"If I hadn't been listening I shouldn't have asked about the flowers. I was just thinking, in a world so full of possibilities for pleasure, why should anyone have to say what you are saying to me?"

"You're not answering me, are you?" she said. "There isn't any answer. But thank you for listening." After a moment she went on, "I can't tell you what a relief it has been to say all this. I believe saying it to you has got it out of me so I won't pour it all out to Spratt. That's why I'm grateful." She reached her hand out and laid it over his, as it rested on the head of his cane. To her astonishment, she found that instead of lying there lightly as she had thought, his hand was gripping the cane with such violence that the muscles were hard and the knuckles were like rocks. Elizabeth drew away quickly and sat up. "Mr. Kessler! What have I done to you?"

"Nothing," he answered sharply, and sat up too, as though startled. "What is the trouble?"

"Why couldn't I keep quiet?" she demanded of herself contritely. "Here I've been babbling like a child who thinks nobody has anything to do but listen—"

"But I wanted to listen!" Kessler exclaimed. "You're not sorry you talked to me!"

"Not for myself, oh no. But I was so absorbed in myself I didn't realize how I might be affecting you. Have I brought back something that's better forgotten? Forgive me, please forgive me, if I've tried you too far."

Kessler stood up abruptly. He turned and moved a step so as to face her. She looked up at him standing between her and the stars, a black figure that gave an impression of strength in spite of the crippled body.

"I told you not to try to answer me. Please don't try. There's no answer, for me or for you."

"Yes there is," he exclaimed decisively. "For a moment, sitting there, you had me almost believing that there wasn't. You said it was too late for you to start over. You are not required to start over. But you are required to keep going. Remember, your responsibilities are of your own creation. You aren't responsible for what's happening in the world, but you are responsible for how you take it."

"There's no answer, for me or for you."

"I told you I couldn't take it. I can feel myself breaking at the prospect. I can't take it."

"Yes you can," he said sternly, "and you're going to."

His force was like a stimulus. Elizabeth exclaimed, "Do you believe I can, Mr. Kessler? You seem to know me pretty well by now—do you believe I can?"

"You can," he returned earnestly, "because you've promised it, by every action of your life. Nobody required you to get married, or to have children, or to live so that you would be essential to their well being. If you had wanted to, you might have been one of these whining creatures who takes to her bed at every annoyance and becomes the center of her little universe by demanding attentions she's too useless to get any other way. But you didn't do that. You outlived your own early grief. To do it you had to strip your character down to its core of strength, so that this is what they have seen of you, this is what you have taught them to expect. They believe in you. They need you, and they're going to need you more. Don't fail them."

Elizabeth drew a long breath. Her chest felt tight. After awhile Kessler resumed his chair. He turned to her, saying,

"Right now, you are beginning to fail."

She started. "Is it as obvious as that? Already?"

"Why don't you stop looking at this entirely from your own viewpoint?" he asked. "You wonder if you can take it—has it never occurred to you that Dick is taking it very well?"

"Dick? He doesn't seem to think very much about it."

"He doesn't seem so to you, maybe. But he is thinking about it."

"How do you know?" She was startled. "Has he said anything to you?"

"No. But I know he is, because I've been there."

Elizabeth exclaimed, "Yes you have. Tell me what it's like!"

"It's a torment of bewilderment," he returned. "You don't say much about it because everybody seems to understand it better than you do. You don't know the reason other people aren't explaining it to you is that they don't understand it either. You go around wondering how you're going to act like a brave hero."

Elizabeth was sitting forward, her hands tight on the arms of her chair. "That's what's going on in his mind! But why hasn't he told us? Mr. Kessler, why doesn't he ever say so?"

"I suspect it's because he knows what's going on in your mind, a lot better than you think."

"You mean," she said bitterly, "he knows his father and I aren't fit to be told. Because we have failed him terribly."

"Would you believe me if I told you I loved your son, Mrs. Herlong? I do love him. He's so much like the son I used to think I might have."

"You never had any children, did you? Margaret told me this afternoon you adopted her after her parents died."

"No, I never had any children," he returned steadily. "That was another of the things the war made impossible."

"Oh," she said faintly. After a moment she exclaimed, "Yet you have conquered, Mr. Kessler. You have gone on living, living well and nobly, in a world that left you absolutely nothing to live for. How did you do it? It seems strange that I who have everything should turn to you who have nothing, and say 'Please help me.' But I do. Because right now it seems that it is you who have everything and I who have nothing. Will you help me?"

He asked, "Do you want me to try to tell Dick what he's being asked to fight for?"

"Yes! Can you? Will you?"

"I'll try. I'll do my best."

"Thank you! You can do it better than I can. You've seen it. And you are so wise, so gentle, so—how can I say it? I mean you're the only man I know I'd trust to do it well."

There was a brief silence, then he said, "And you?"

"I'll take it, Mr. Kessler. Forgive me for being such a coward."

Margaret was going to have a Christmas party for some of her schoolmates, and Elizabeth suggested that she and the two older children come to Kessler's apartment one afternoon to decorate the Christmas tree. As it was hard to buy ornaments in the stores they brought their own, part of an abundance left over from earlier holidays. Margaret was there, jumping with excitement while Kessler looked on. He liked Christmas, and enjoyed her pleasure in it. While he was showing Elizabeth the silver fountain pen Spratt had given him as a Christmas present, Dick was dragging in a ladder, and calling to Elizabeth to move out of his way. "We'll start at the top," he said, setting up the ladder by the tree and beginning to climb. "You hand me the junk, Cherry."

With Elizabeth's assistance, Cherry handed up the junk. Margaret helped, her arms full of tinsel and her eyes wide and joyous. "It's just beautiful," she kept saying over and over. "It's just beautiful."

She got close against the resplendent tree and looked up through the branches. "I can see you up there, Dick! Look at me."

He bent down, scratching his face on the branches. "Sure, I see you. Hello." As he leaned over, a collection of glass balls slipped out of his hand and smashed on the floor at her feet.

"Oh!" Margaret cried in dismay.

"It doesn't matter," Cherry reassured her, "there are plenty more."

"You've hung up about all it will hold, anyway," Kessler observed as the door opened and the housekeeper came in to tell Margaret her supper was ready. Margaret shrank back against the tree, looking down at the broken glass before her.

"I—I'm scared," she confessed. "I might fall down and get cut."

"Yes, so you might," Elizabeth agreed. "Come give her a lift, Dick."

"Okay. Wait a minute, Margaret."

Dick scrambled down from the ladder. Remarking that he had jolted some lights out of place, Cherry climbed up to adjust them. Dick reached across the broken glass.

"Put your arms around my neck and hold tight so I can lift you, Margaret. There you are. She'll be along in a minute," he said to the housekeeper, and as she went out he swung Margaret across the pile of glass and set her down. "Right?" he asked her.

She nodded. "Right, thank you. I'm always scared of falling down on broken things. I fell down once, and got a bad cut on my neck. See?" She drew the collar of her dress aside.

Dick bent to look at the scar she showed him. "Why, you did get a bad cut. How did that happen?"

"A man kicked me," said Margaret, "and I fell down."

"What?" said Dick.

The eyes of them all turned to her—Elizabeth, her hands full of tinsel, Cherry on the ladder adjusting the lights, Dick standing beside Margaret at the foot of the tree. Kessler, sitting in his chair near by, said nothing. But Margaret appeared not to realize the start she had given them.

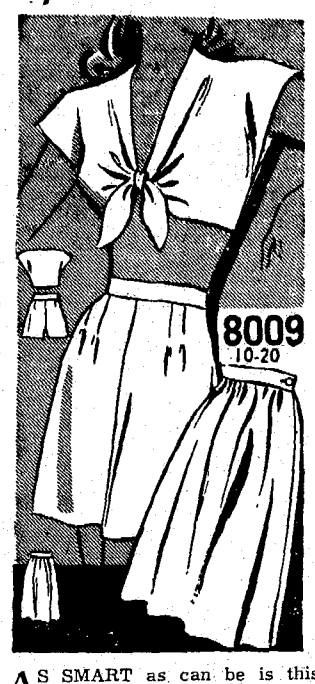

"What man kicked you?" Dick demanded, and stopped, absorbing the idea of men who kicked little girls.

Margaret answered without any excitement. "The man who killed my mother."

Household Hints

To get curtain tiebacks fastened straight, pull window shades down to desired length and fasten the tiebacks in line with the bottom of the shades.

List on a piece of cardboard the articles stored in a closet, trunk, or large box. Saves rummaging.

To make mends in sweaters or jersey dresses invisible, use a rocket hook to make chain stitches to duplicate the appearance of the knitted fabric.

If you have just opened a new bottle of glue, rub a little lard over the opening before you put the lid back on. When you want to open the bottle again, the cap will come off easily.

Turn off the fuel before instead of after removing utensils. Also, do not leave a burner turned on because you expect to use it later.

Honey or maple syrup mixed with whipped cream makes an excellent "topper" for baked apples.

When an old broom is about to be discarded, cut off the handle and use it for a curtain rod, towel rack, or a stick to remove hot clothes from the wash boiler.

If you're having a birthday party for your tiny tot, bake cup cakes along with the usual birthday cake. Put a candle in each and serve to your guests. When your child blows out the candles, all the others have a candle to blow out too.

Lacquer should not be applied to a varnished surface until the varnish has first been removed.

Dip dusty wax flowers in warm water containing a little baking soda now and then to keep them clean.

Million Pieces of Glass in Stage Curtain of 27 Tons

The most magnificent stage curtain on record, a mosaic of glass, has hung in the National theater in Mexico City since 1911. Depicting a popular Mexican legend, the curtain has an area of 280 square yards and contains nearly 1,000,000 pieces of colored glass; and its construction required the work of 20 men for 15 months in the Tiffany studios in New York.

Although weighing 27 tons, it is raised or lowered by hydraulic pressure in seven seconds.

German Radio Takes New Tone Under U. S.

News, Education and Swing Replace Old Nazi Line; English Grammar Lessons Prove Popular Among Listeners.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — Gradually the net is closing in about the "ether traitors," American citizens who broadcast in English from Berlin and elsewhere for the Nazis before and during the war. Recently the (in)famous "Axis Sally" was taken into custody. She devoted her air time to making G.I.s feel homesick overseas by dwelling on the joys and comforts back in the good old U. S. A. Another traitor is "Kaltenbach," an ex-Iowa boy who tried to awake nostalgia with corny realism about life down on the farm.

Then there is Constance Drexel, who pretended to be a cultured member of the old Philadelphia family whose name she used as a pseudonym when she worked on American newspapers. She was really born in Germany and brought here by her father who became naturalized. She was known here as pro-Hitler before the war. She made one broadcast for an American network when I was in Berlin, but I helped to make it her last.

It is hard to prove treason. You have to have witnesses who actually saw the person in the act of broadcasting. When the Americans took over German radio our methods were far different. We used a proved weapon—the truth.

U. S. Controls Air Facilities

When active military operations changed over to occupation, the Information Control division laid down a three-point program. The plan was negative at first—the wiping out of all Nazi media, including radio, to make way for American media.

Next came actual broadcasting. The early broadcasts were very stark and stern. Decrees, regulations, warnings to the people. No concerts, no plays, no music. Now we are in phase two and the Germans are finding more variety along the radio dial. Entertainment, as well as news and education, is being provided by the ICD.

The third phase will begin when German radio stations are turned over to the Germans themselves, much as the newspapers have been allowed to operate under German direction under license. A military government official examines and criticizes the newspaper after it appears. Presumably, radio programs will be supervised in roughly the same manner.

The first station to be taken over by the Americans was Radio Luxembourg. It was in pretty good shape, for the Germans had left in too much of a hurry to do any big-scale demolition.

Next station to go to work for the army was Frankfurt; then Stuttgart; then Munich. When I was in Germany, because of trouble with land lines, the Munich-Stuttgart-Frankfurt network was not running regularly. Perhaps it is now.

Radio is supported in Germany as it was before the war, by a tax on each set. Why, I asked, couldn't a radio owner conceal his set and thus get out of paying the tax? I was told there was no danger of that. If anyone concealed the fact he had a radio, his jealous neighbors would tell on him. The Nazi squealing habit is still strong in Germany.

All programs at present are in the German language, except for a few in Polish for displaced persons in camps. There is a large proportion of factual world news broadcast and an increasing number of German musical programs.

On the educational side, there are talks by German officials, and American military government men. Some jazz and swing, and lately, plays. The program periods have been running as long as 45 minutes which seems a long time for American radio fans—and now they are being extended to one hour.

Poll Reaction Of Audience

At first it wasn't easy to find out whether Germans liked what they were getting on the ICD schedule of broadcasts. Fan letters, the barometers of approval and disapproval in America, were banned up until December of last year. However, reactions are coming in now, as the ICD conducts many secret radio polls—employing the methods of polltakers in this country. The surveys which I saw indicated that, on the whole, the programs are popular with the Germans—with certain reservations.

Take factual world news, for example. Germans are anxious to hear this, but they don't always understand it. For 12 years they have been taught to be suspicious of all news. And yet, in spite of this skepticism, they are so saturated with the propaganda idea that in some cases they don't like facts.

This came out in a conference with teenagers who said they preferred the Russian broadcasts to ours. Asked why, they said there was too much propaganda in ours.

I went over this answer with one of the psychological experts. He explained it this way: straight news without comment forces the listener to think for himself. This disturbs the German teenager, and he blames the program, calling it "propaganda."

English grammar lessons far outrun American music as radio favorites in Germany. All Germans want to learn English. This desire seems to stem from the long-range hope that some day America's gates will be open, and from the opportunistic feeling that the conquered can get along better with the conqueror if they're both talking the same language.

Zionists Wary Of Russians

For years, contending European nations have battled for the friendship and support of the Arabs. This struggle was intensified when, long before World War I, the Germans started their "drang nach Osten" and the British heightened their efforts to placate the Arabs in order to protect their empire's life-lines and to prevent a spread of a disaffection to the Moslems of India.

Now Russia steps into the picture. Reports from Baghdad tell us of the spread of communistic sympathies throughout the Middle East. And the Jews of Palestine find their troubles increasing.

The announcement of Britain's granting of independence to Trans-Jordania heightened Zionist resentment, for Trans-Jordania is a part of Greater Palestine and was supposed to be included in the territory allotted to the National Jewish home.

The Zionists claim the British action is part of a scheme to prevent the United Nations from creating a trusteeship of Greater Palestine which would include Trans-Jordania, as the old League of Nations mandate did. They also make the charge that the purpose is "to thwart Jewish rights by bolstering pro-Axis forces."

The Zionists feel too that Russia is playing a similar game. They point out the inconsistency of making friends with the Arabs, whose party leader in Palestine, Jamal Husseini, is calling for the reinstatement of the Grand Mufti, a Hitler collaborator.

In his testimony before the British-American inquiry committee Husseini said: "Germany was not our enemy and therefore we had no interest in the war," adding: "I've read somewhere that it was a Jewish war."

The Zionists believe they have discovered an additional reason for Russian animosity toward their efforts in Palestine. Like most of the causes of racial and other ructions, it is fear. They say that the Soviets are afraid that if the Palestine colony becomes a success it will prove an entering wedge for western capitalism in the Near East. There is really nothing in common between the feudalist, unprogressive Arab world and the economic and social principles represented by the Soviet system. The Arabs can't do the Soviets any harm but they could be used, the Zionists say, to hamstring what might become a live and up-and-coming Jewish nation imbued with capitalistic ideas, operating too close for communistic comfort.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

HOW JESUS' FRIENDS RESPONDED

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:16-20; 5:18-20; 10:46, 52; Luke 5:27, 28.

MEMORY SELECTION—He left all, rose up, and followed him.—Luke 5:28.

Friendship calls for an exchange—not of gifts or possessions necessarily, but of service, love and fellowship.

The friends of Jesus responded to the warmth of His affection and the appeal of His call, and they gave themselves in life and service to Him.

Many in the church have forgotten that part of the friendship of Jesus Christ. They want to count Him as their friend, they expect much of Him; but they give little or nothing in return. Their love is cold, their service indifferent, their witness powerless.

Not every one of Jesus' friends is called to be a preacher or a teacher. He needs those who will be His faithful followers, just a living testimony without special office or message.

To effectively present the contrasts of our lesson, we have arranged the verses in slightly different sequence. Among the friends of Jesus

I. Some Became Preachers (Mark 1:16-20).

These men had met Jesus before (John 1:35-51), but now He was ready to call them away from their daily occupation as fishermen and make them "fishers of men."

Such a change was not an easy one to make. It meant the giving up of an established earthly calling, a place in the community, home life and family, for the service of the Lord. That was to bring persecution, ridicule, poverty and loneliness. But "straightway they forsook their nets."

Let the members of the church and pastors be on the alert to sense the call of God to young men and women to the ministry and to the mission field, and then let them do everything possible to encourage them on their way.

II. Others Became Followers (Mark 10:46, 52).

When Jesus came by, blind Bartimaeus began to cry, "Jesus, son of David have mercy on me" (v. 47). Many around him tried to hush his voice (v. 48), but he cried the more.

Through that babel of voices Jesus heard him, stopped and sent for him, and healed him. The ear of our Lord is always attuned to hear the cry of the one in need, and His heart is quick to respond to his call. He can hear the cry of the repentant sinner through all the confusing sounds of our day.

Bartimaeus became a "follower" of Jesus. He probably had no position in the church, no call to preach, but what a testimony he had. (cf. John 9:25).

Jesus needs simple, steady followers. Men and women with a plain, effective testimony of salvation. The army of the Lord is not made up of generals and officers only. Perhaps we have more of them than we need.

III. Some Stayed at Home (Mark 5:18-20).

This striking story of the deliverance of the mad man shows the importance of testimony at home. The people had asked Jesus to leave (v. 17) because in delivering the maniac He had caused some swine to go mad and run into the sea.

These men needed a witness, and the most effective possible word to them would come from the delivered demoniac. He wanted to go with Jesus, but at the Master's word he stayed at home.

It is hard to leave home and loved ones to go afar to witness for Jesus Christ, but sometimes it is easier to speak for Him in a strange land than at home. Even Jesus found no honor in His own city.

If you are called to witness for the Lord in the small circle of your own family or community, trust God to make that word for Jesus tremendously effective. He can do it!

IV. Others Left Home and Business (Luke 5:27, 28).

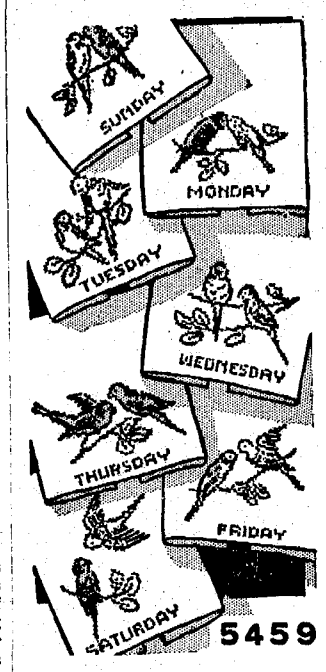

Levi—better known to us as Matthew — was "a member of that hated group of renegade Jews, who served the Roman invader and helped him in his cruel work of wringing extortionate taxes from the people" (Earl L. Douglass). As a result, he was rich and undoubtedly had a fine home and every desirable material possession.

He had come to know Jesus and when the call came suddenly to follow Jesus, he did not hesitate; he did not stop to gather up his money; he did not sell his house; but he stood up and left all, and followed Jesus.

If Jesus really means everything to a man or a woman there is nothing in this world that can hold him back when Jesus calls. He is ready to go to the ends of the earth, and let whosoever will care for the business, his possessions, everything (cf. Matt. 19:29).

How to Fight the Menace of FIRE

A Wet Towel and a Flashlight may save your life!—says the National Safety Council

1 Call the fire department at first opportunity! Fire is always dangerous—especially at night. Most fires do occur at night! If you smell smoke, reach for your "Eveready" flashlight. Feel doors before opening them. If a door is hot, don't open it!

2 Wet a towel or cloth; cover your face and arms. Close doors behind you to reduce drafts that may fan the flames. If the heat is severe, remember that heat rises—crawl! If trapped on an upper floor, make a rope of bedclothes. As a last resort only, throw out a mattress and jump down onto it.

3 To avoid danger, you have to see it—so keep your flashlight with you until you're safe! Watch for collapsing ceilings . . . But the best way to avoid fire is to prevent it! Your flashlight gives a much better light than matches or a candle, and it's much safer tool

4 To help prevent fire or fight it—or for any flashlight need—rely on "Eveready" Batteries. Ask your dealer for them by name. The days when you had to accept "second choice" batteries—or none—are past. "Eveready" Batteries have no equal—that's why they're the biggest-selling flashlight batteries in the world!

Jordan for passenger traffic this coming season — Boyne Journal. Good!"

Charles Shedina has purchased the building lot on Mill street between the Korthase blacksmith shop and the Zitka block ,of J. B. Palmiter. He intends to build a blacksmith shop as soon as weather permits. We understand Mr. Korthase intends to sell his machinery, tools, etc, to Mr. Shedina and embark in the livery business.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Loveday leave Tuesday for Tampa, Florida, and other southern points. Will be gone until the middle of April and then return as far as Chicago where they will attend the graduating exercises of the Columbia College of Expression, Miss Louise Loveday being a member of the graduating class.

Nearly a half column is devoted to telling of a party Miss Anna M. Kneale gave. It was a six o'clock dinner at the Sherwood House with covers laid for 24 and was a strictly feminine affair, or was supposed to be but when they entered the dining room they discovered their husbands had preceded them and Joe Empey, as toastmaster, welcomed the ladies to their own dinner. During the dinner Mrs. George Sherman quietly passed the word to the ladies that it was her sister's (Mrs. E. C. Plank) birthday and after Mrs. Plank was sent home by a fake message they were to follow. The hotel manager had a flashlight picture made of the group, then the ladies went to the Plank home but had hardly finished with congratulations when once more the men appeared, this time armed with chairs, fruit and confections.

The Joseph Empeys threw their home open Wednesday evening for a reception of about three hundred guests. Roses and carnations decorated all the rooms; Rev. and Mrs George Allan and Fletcher Empey completed the receiving line; Bessie Warne and Will Webster rendered music on piano and violin during the receiving hours from eight to ten; Anna Haire and Fay Nicholas assisted Mrs. F. C. Warne in the reception halls and the Misses Jennie Glenn and Leila Clink presided in the dining room.

Empey Brothers have bought the furniture stock of J. J. Votruba.

Two other business changes were the resale of the Weisman stock by Burnham & Stoepel to Ike Weisman and Saturday morning J. L. Weisman opened up the store again to the public. Fred E. Boosinger and brother, John Boosinger, dissolved partnership, John retiring from the firm and Fred continuing the business.

Company "I", M.N.G. was inspected last Monday evening. With an enrollment of 84 enlisted men and three officers Co. I is the largest unit in the State in the face of East Jordan being the smallest town to have an M.N.G. company. They received the highest mark possible in everything except the drill work which was hampered by the smallness of the floor.

Deaths recorded in this issue include those of Mrs. Carrie Place, 65, at the County Farm; Mrs. Charles Bechtel, 68, of Eveline township; and Mrs. Louis Palmer, 20, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moblo, of tuberculosis.

Pupils of the Rock Elm and Walker schools, under the direction of their teachers, Clarence Dewey and Miss Meggison gave a fine musical program at the Rock Elm Grange hall Friday evening.

From Chestonia correspondence: "The poor old 'D. & C.' is also laid up with a bad cold. We hear that it is not expected to come out of it until the robins chirp and the bluebirds sing."

From Peninsula: "The severe storm, the worst of the season, Thursday, completely blocked the road which was not dug out until Saturday."

How're you going to keep 'em down on the farm when they have seen Paree?

This question, theme of a humorous ditty in World War I, is just as true today, according to Charles Figy, director of the state department of agriculture. But as a substitute for "Paree", which wasn't as gay as many GI's has anticipated, Figy would nominate today's boom-time wages in Michigan cities.

"Not as many Michigan veterans are returning to farms as we had expected," said Figy this week, reviewing some of the problems ahead for 1946. "Veterans are being attracted to the cities by high wages and short hours. As long as this situation exists, the trend to the city will probably continue."

Figy pointed out that farm price inflation in Michigan, which today exceeds the peak of the 1920 boom by 8 per cent, was discouraging veterans from buying farms. He said Michigan farm prices were 89 per cent higher than the average from 1935 to 1939 and 47 per cent higher than the 30-year average from 1910 to 1939.

While some Michigan farmers will get needed farm machinery in time for the 1946 season, most of them will not, in the opinion of Figy.

"The farm machinery situation isn't good, either," he said. "Manufacturers have their problems, too, such as lack of steel, due to the steel strike, labor troubles and other factors."

As for emergency farm workers, replacing the German war prisoners who were employed for fruit picking and packing, and beet sugar and truck crop cultivation, the prospect is fairly good. A. B. Love and James G. Hays of the Michigan State college extension service are now in Missouri and Arkansas, recruiting workers for Michigan farm work in 1946. Furthermore, Michigan will have a plentiful supply of Jamaicans and Texas Mexicans.

The 1946 production goals for Michigan ask for more corn, more soybeans, more dry beans, more sugar beets, more barley; for continued high production of flax and milk; for less livestock, poultry and egg production.

Figy, owner of three farms in Lanawee county, is an optimist at heart. Confronted with an agricultural digest report that "the agricultural economy of this nation is being thrown into a drastic and costly reorganization from which it may not soon recover", due to the government's decision to use grain for famine food and to cut livestock and poultry feeding, Figy smiled and said:

"Unless the government compels farmers to sell their grain, the new order will not affect more than 10 per cent of the farmers in Michigan, in my opinion. Most Michigan farmers have general farms whereby grains are grown for feeding of livestock and chickens. They are going to see that their livestock and chickens are fed. However, the farmer who is dependent on outside feed supply for his poultry, hog and cattle feeding may be caught short and badly pinched.

"Certainly the new feed order isn't going to curtail milk production anything like 50 per cent, as was recently predicted in Michigan. In our own case, we recently used soybean feeding as a substitute for protein supplement, and the result was about 10 per cent decline in milk production.

"No, I am not alarmed over the government's decision to expoort wheat and other grains to the overseas famine areas."

The post-war victory garden program, according to Figy, is pretty much "on its own" this season.

To his knowledge, no organized campaign will be conducted such as was the case during the war when the Michigan War Council was the sponsoring agency with men out in the field.

However, gardeners have been urged by President Truman and recently by Governor Harry F. Kelly to continue the war-time program of food growing in 1946. If foods are to be sent abroad to save millions of our allies, as well as enemy nationals, from starvation in the next six or so months, then every pound of food grown in home gardens will assure householders of an adequate supply next winter — and at a thrift saving of money, too.

Voluntary conservation of food, particularly bread and other wheat products, fats and oils, is being advocated by the federal government in its nine-point emergency program.

Food experts recently announced that 15 cents of each food dollar were wasted by food that is thrown into the garbage can or wasted in other ways.

Surveys made of garbage collections in 247 cities show that the average garbage waste contains more than 300 pounds of food per person per year — an average waste of more than ¾ pound of food per person per day. If the waste among consumers is applied nation-wide, the result is a conclusion that Americans waste 15 per cent of all food they purchase. The restaurant plate waste is calculated to be 6 per cent; the retail store over-all food loss is 3 per cent of total sales.

These are figures to think about.

While Chinese prefer to grow grains for direct food, the American practice is to use the grain for feeding cattle, hogs and poultry. We are meat-eaters.

The livestock numbers on Jan. 1, 1946 were about the same as last year. Yet the total supplies of feed were less for each grain-consuming animal unit, and rates of feeding so far this winter have been very high. The rate of feeding has been about 17 per cent above that of the same period of 1944.

With feed grain supplies short in relation to demand, Michigan farmers are being urged by the federal government to feed less grain to hogs and beef cattle, cull poultry flocks closely, raise fewer chickens and turkeys this year, maintain milk production without wasting feed, and above all, avoid "over-finishing" meat animals.

Scene from "Life with Father," America's all-time comedy hit, now in its seventh year on Broadway. Pictured here are Wallis Clark and Lily Cahill, currently starring.

"WHERE ARE THIS MONTH'S BILLS?"

"Speaking of money," Father thundered, "where are this month's bills?"

"Clare," Vinnie pleaded, "it isn't fair to go over the household accounts while you're hungry!"

POOR VINNIE! Was ever any wife so stormed at? How Father raged over the bills she ran up! But our guess is that if laughable, lovable Clare and Vinnie were keeping house today, one bill wouldn't bother him. . . . That's the electric bill.

For Father was a thrifty man. "Vinnie," he used to roar, "this is a matter of dollars and cents, and that's something you don't know anything about." But he knew about it. And he would have appreciated the fact that while the prices of most things went way up in war years, the average price of electricity actually came down. Plus the fact that the average family gets twice as much electric service for its money today as it did twenty years ago.

Being a practical man, he would have realized the reason why. As he used to shout at Vinnie, "You know I like to live well, and I want my family to live well. But this house must be run on a business basis."

And that's exactly how your electric light and power companies are run. On a business basis. Almost certainly, America's Favorite Stage Character would have applauded America's business-managed, self-supporting electric companies.

PEARSALL

SHERIFF

Petitions are being circulated to nominate Claude D. Pearsall on the Republican Ticket for Charlevoix County Sheriff. Mr. Pearsall is 52 years old and has lived in Charlevoix County all of his life. His many friends believe him to be the leading candidate for the office, basing their judgment on his many years of Public Service as Township Supervisor, Deputy Sheriff, Justice of the Peace and other Wilson Township offices for something over 25 years. For many years he owned and operated a farm in Wilson Township, assisted his well-known veteranarian father, Robert Pearsall. Since his father's death he has attempted to carry on the work, has never failed to answer call of a farmer in need, as his many friends will testify. In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Pearsall states that he is not criticizing the administration of Floyd Ikens, his life-long friend and the present incumbant, but, he does feel that, with living and social conditions changing so rapidly, a new administration in the Sheriff's office would make the department more efficient.
